

Being Alive

by Katharine Zaun

Sea anemones
their tentacles reaching,
brilliant pink and green and white grasping in the deep at unknown prey—even they close up
in fear.

At once, we are but fickle animals, and,
and the steady pulse of Life
made manifest, together, again and again.